Standing Orders, Amendment of May 7, 621

(Rulings as Chairman of Committees)
Supply—Navy Estimates, 1895-96
The Chairman, interposing, pointed out that this did not arise on the Amendment which had been moved, and which was entirely confined to engines and boilers April 29, 86
Financial Statement, 1895-96
The Chairman said nothing about a general discussion. He was only pointing out to the hon. Member that it was not in

Order to go into detail on the point he was discussing, as he understood that the two Resolutions with regard to beer stood over for the present May 2, 352

Naval Works Bill
The Chairman said that the first new clause—"Further application to Parliament"—standing in the name of the noble Lord the Member for Ealing, is out of Order May 3, 423

Established Church (Wales) Bill
The Chairman said that he could not say that the hon. Member was out of Order, but at the same time he thought that the observations were rather irrelevant to the question before the Committee May 6, 589
The Chairman observed that there was an Amendment by the hon. Member for Leominster proposing that Radnorshire and Monmouthshire should also be excepted. If a Division were taken on the Amendment of the hon. Member for South Shropshire, the Amendment of the hon. Member for Leominster would be excluded. He suggested that the latter hon. Member should confine his Amendment to Radnorshire May 7, 642
The Chairman, on being informed that two Members had been unable to record their votes, summoned the Tellers for the Aye Lobby to the Table, and told them that it had been stated that the Clerks left the desk and the Tellers in the Aye Lobby before all the Members had passed out, and consequently two votes were not counted. On it being stated that the Lobby was empty when the Tellers left, and it being ascertained that the two hon. Members were not counted, the Chairman under the special circumstances directed the Clerk to add the names of those two hon. Gentlemen to the numbers of the Ayes May 7, 658, 659
The Chairman said that he must remind the hon. Member that no question of compensation arose here. The only question before the Committee was that which related to the preservation of the rights of lay patrons May 13, 1087
The Chairman pointed out to the hon. Member that he was going very wide indeed of the subject matter of the Amendment May 13, 1097
The Chairman said that the hon. and learned Member was clearly out of Order in discussing the subject of private benefactions upon this clause May 14, 1207
The Chairman maintained that so long as the hon. Member confined himself to the clause, he would be in Order; but that the point he raised with regard to the Irish Marriage Law did not seem to apply to this particular Amendment May 14, 1209
The Chairman said that the hon. Baronet could not now discuss subsequent clauses May 14, 1220 [cont.

The Chairman calling Order, Order, showed that the hon. Member was now going beyond the limits of his Amendment. The question was solely with regard to the dissolution of those corporations May 14, 1223
The Chairman said that, as the sub-section was in the Bill when it was read a second time, and committed to this Committee, it was in Order, and if it did not come within the title of the Bill, the title could be amended. A clause already in the Bill was in a different category from an Amendment going beyond the scope of the Bill May 20, 1628
The Chairman said that he had ruled that point more than once as having nothing to do with the Bill. This was a Bill for the Disestablishment and Disendowment of the Church of Wales May 20, 1668
The Chairman said the hon. Member must confine himself to the question that the clause stand part of the Bill, and must take the clause as it is May 21, 1784

Ways and Means—(The Budget)
The Chairman: All abstract Resolutions are out of Order in Committee of Ways and Means. I am acquainted with the precedent to which the right hon. Gentleman refers. It did not concern a Resolution in Committee of Ways and Means. The application of that precedent must, moreover, be confined to the special circumstances under which it was allowed, and I would add that it has always been regarded as a very doubtful precedent May 10, 919

Questions—cont.

I understand the hon. Member does not mean to correct a report, but to correct a statement that has gone forth imputing conduct to a Member of the other House which is denied, and to make a statement with reference to that May 9, 821

I understand from the hon. Member that a mistake has been made in the printing of the Paper, the Motion in question being put down as a substantive Motion, whereas it should have appeared as an Amendment on going into Committee of Supply. The matter will be put right in the evening paper if no substantial objection is taken May 10, 917

It is not a question of Order, but, at the same time, there is no objection to my stating what, indeed, is obvious—that there is a very grave duty, of course, imposed on every hon. Member in introducing Strangers within the walls of the House, to take care not to introduce any person who, he has reason to believe, is likely to be guilty of any disorderly conduct May 10, 917

The hon. Member has asked a question and received an answer May 16, 1341

Rules and Order of Debate

Of course there can be no objection to the Motions standing over for the reasons the hon. Gentleman has given, but the proposed Amendment of the Standing Order cannot be moved at the time of private business. The proposed Amendment is not one which deals with the subject-matter of private Bills. It proposes that the words "whether there is any special circumstance, in regard to the conduct of the company promoting the Bill, etc., which, in the opinion of the Committee, it is desirable that the House should be informed of," should be added to the Standing Order No. 157. I am quite aware that there is another Amendment proposed, but that is really consequential upon this one. No doubt it is the practice of the House that the Standing Orders relating to private business may be dealt with at the time of private business. But Amendments to those Standing Orders, if they are to be taken at this time, must relate directly to the subject matter of private Bills, and not to the general conduct of the companies who promote the Bills. What the hon. and learned Member proposes appears to me to deal simply with general questions relating to the conduct of railway companies, and not to the conduct of railway companies in their character of promoters of any private Bills, and therefore I think it would be contrary to the practice of the House to allow the Amendments to be moved at the time of private business. Whatever alterations may be made in the Standing Orders with reference to these questions cannot, in my opinion, be brought forward at this time April 30, 116

The words of the Order are "Whether any Report from any Public Department in regard to the Bill, or the objects thereof, has been referred by the House to the Committee." The Amendment says "Whether the Board of Trade has brought any special circumstance to the notice of the Committee;" and that is followed by the suggestion of the special circumstances regarding the matters which I say are public, and general questions such as should be brought to the notice of the House at the time of public and not of private business. That is the reason I say that the two Amendments hang together. If the hon. Member wishes to make an Amendment for the purpose which he says he has in view, his object would be attained by simply adding the words "or communication" after the word "report" in the Standing Order April 30, 118

The hon. Member is not entitled to reflect upon the conduct of Her Majesty's Judges May 1, 250

The Naval Works Bill is founded on a Resolution of the Committee of Ways and Means, placing £1,000,000 for certain specific purposes to the use of the Royal Navy. The three instructions are out of order, as they all require part of the £1,000,000 expended for some purpose, outside of that for which it was voted May 3, 400

The word "side" does not occur in the Standing Order, and if used could only refer to the sides of the question, and not to the side of the House May 6, 537

The hon. Member is not entitled to discuss the propriety of endowments, either of the Church or other denominations. The question before the House is the separation of the Bill into two parts May 6, 543

I do not think that the noble Lord has made any reflection upon the Chair. He has merely referred to the great magnitude of the task before the House, and suggested the desirability of its being divided into two parts May 6, 546

If the hon. Member had made a personal imputation of that kind on any hon. Member sitting in this House it would be out of Order. I do not understand the hon. Member to do that, but to suggest that such results might possibly and probably arise in the future under a certain state of things, from the action, not of particular Members of the House, but of the Party generally May 8, 729

The hon. Gentleman is not entitled to go into the correspondence on a subject which has been ruled out of order on the ground that it was not relevant to the question before the House. The hon. Gentleman must confine himself to matters that are relevant May 9, 781

The hon. Member has already spoken. The main question is now before the House, and the hon. Member spoke to that on the last occasion that the Bill was before the House May 9, 782

The hon. Member is I think mistaken. When the Bill was called upon for Third Reading the hon. Member rose and spoke. In the course of his speech, no doubt, he moved the adjournment, but that was speaking on the main question May 9, 782

I think I cannot accept the Motion in that form. It would be impossible to know what was committed to the care of the Committee if the words of the Motion were that it should be recommitted in respect of the clauses relating to North Wales. There might be considerable dispute as to what clauses did relate to North Wales. I think, moreover, to be in form the Motion should be to recommit the Bill to the former Committee May 9, 782

It is a matter for the House to decide after recommittal. It is, I understand, the practice of the House, if there is to be any alteration of that kind, to direct that the Bill must be recommitted May 9, 783

The hon. Member must not proceed to refute charges which have not been raised in Debate May 9, 787

The hon. Member is not entitled to discuss all the Scotch Bills introduced by the Government, except so far as they bear upon this subject May 9, 872

The late Mr. Speaker had ruled on more than one occasion that no objection could be allowed to a Return which appeared on the Paper as unopposed, and that therefore he must follow that ruling May 9, 895

If the alteration were one which exaggerated, if I may so say, the Motion set down, it would not be in Order without further notice, but as it appears to me to be one to modify the stringency of the Motion which is set down, then it may be brought forward. As regards the point of Order raised by the right hon. Gentleman, I am not aware of any precedent for a Motion of this kind for an inquiry into the relations between a corporation or private firm and its servants, and in the form in which was proposed to be moved certainly grave inconveniences might have followed from a decision of this House upon an entirely ex parte statement against a company which might or might not be represented formally or informally in the discussion. But in the form in which it is proposed to be moved I am not able to say that it is within my function as Speaker to rule that it is out of Order. There may be great inconvenience in a Motion relating to the matters referred to, but I do not see, in the absence of any precedent for striking out such a Motion, that I should be justified in saying that it was out of Order May 10, 962

The right of the noble Lord to vote is a question for the House itself, not for me. But I think it is right I should point out to the House, that although many cases have occurred of Members standing in the position in which the noble Lord is at this moment, there is not an instance on record, as far as I am able to discover, of such a claim being made as that made by the noble Lord to sit and vote in this House. Under these circumstances I must ask the noble Lord to withdraw below the Bar until the question of his right to sit and vote has been decided by the House May 13, 1058

I beg to remind the right hon. Gentleman that there is no Motion before the House, and that notice has been given of the kind of Motion that will be proposed, and when the Motion is made there will be an opportunity of discussing the terms of the reference. The right hon. Gentleman can speak only by the indulgence of the House May 13, 1066

I think that it would be better that the hon. Member should postpone his remarks until the Motion is upon the paper, as they might lead to a general discussion on the subject May 13, 1067

I do not know what the purpose of this Bill is, but I presume that it is not a Bill which deals with the question of fares May 16, 1308

The hon. Member must speak to the question before the House, which is the Second Reading of this Bill May 16, 1373

I think the hon. Gentleman is not in Order in criticising the mode in which the Finance Act, in regard to the Death Duties, is administered May 16, 1376

The hon. Gentleman's remarks are rather remote from questions of finance May 16, 1383.

I understand that my predecessor always ruled that such a Motion, made by an hon. Member whose name is on the Bill, could not be objected to May 16, 1428

Horses could hardly be included in "the terms and conditions of employment in the Post Office" May 17, 1482

The hon. Member is entitled to raise the question of rates in so far as it relates to the undertaking which the Company by the Bill proposes to take over May 20 1570

I have looked at the Notice of Motion which the hon. Gentleman has handed to me. I do not think it is one which comes within the terms of the Standing Order 17. That Standing Order provides that the Motion must relate to a definite matter of urgent public importance. Of course the employment of sailors and their treatment are matters of great public importance, but whether in the shape in which they are set out in this Motion they are urgent within the meaning of the rule may be a matter of doubt.

I am clearly of opinion, however, that this is not a definite matter, which it is essential it should be, in order to bring the Motion within the rules. It would involve inquiry by the House into the conditions of employment of Lascar seamen on board British ships; it would mean inquiry into their treatment in a vast number of cases, and it would be impossible for the House on such a Motion to discuss the details of alleged infringements of the Merchant Shipping Act by shipping companies in failing to provide Lascar seamen with the proper special accommodation provided by the Statute. These are matters entirely of detail, and I think the Standing Order intended that the matter to be discussed should be a definite matter, and that it was not intended to include such matters as this. Therefore I deem it to be my duty not to submit the Motion to the House. As to whether the infringement of an Act of Parliament is a definite matter of urgent public importance or not would depend upon the particular case put before me. What is put before me here is the general infringement of an Act of Parliament by shipping companies in general May 20, 1614
